Mariah Wright House

The president last Thursday asked for $34,500 for the Wright house restoration. The remainder of the appropriation will be used to restore the 1865 appearance of the land in the village.

Norris noted that a union commander, General Joshua L. Chamberlain mentioned the Wright house in a dispatch. Mrs. Wright, a widow, was living in the house on April 9, 1865 when General Robert E. Lee sent a messenger under a flag of truce to the Union lines.

Visitors of Future

When reconstruction is completed, visitors will move from a parking lot directly to the Old Court House according to historian Wescott Wolfe.

There they will see the latest in pictoral exhibits, tour through a spacious visitors' lobby and museum. They can enjoy movies, slides, and informal talks by Park Guides in an upstairs auditorium of the Courthouse.

From there they may walk to the other historic buildings of the village. No automobiles will obstruct their tour on the paths and roads of the old village.

Mission 66

All of these improvements, the Park Service staff says, are a part of Mission 66, a gigantic program of improvements planned for all the parks administered by the National Park Service.

4-H News

Mrs. Martin's 4-H Club met January 14, 1963. We said our 4-H pledge. The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting. The song leaders lead us in some songs. The meeting was turned over to Mr. Smith. He talked to us about projects. We were to name six or more animals that eats insects and what the insect is by the next meeting. The meeting was adjourned.

Young Farmers Supper Meeting

Mr. W. C. Dudley area supervisor of Vocational Agriculture was guest speaker at the annual supper of the Appomattox Young Farmer Association held Wednesday night, January 23, at the Parkway Restaurant. Mr. Dudley stressed the need for further education in the farm business, and the need for leadership opportunities that can be provided by an organization as the Young Farmers.

Albert Harvey, president of the Appomattox Young Farmer Association, was Master of Ceremonies for the occasion. The introduction of guests was made by Bill Williamson. R. B. Carter, adviser for the Association gave summary of the year's activities and accomplishments.

The Young Farmer Association is an organization of, by, and for young men engaged in the farming business. These men through their class work study and discuss problems that confront them as young men just getting established in the farming business. The teachers of vocational agriculture in the various schools throughout the State of Virginia serve as advisers to these young men, and aid in the instructional program.

Officers for the Appomattox Young Farmer Association this year are: Albert Harvey, president; Richard Krantz, vice-president; Bill Williamson, secretary; Billy Emmett, treasurer; Floyd Moore, reporter.

Two Men Shot; Case Sent To Grand Jury

In a preliminary hearing held Wednesday, Jan. 23, the case of William T. Randolph, Negro, was sent on the grand jury.

Randolph was charged on two counts of malicious wounding Friday night by Sheriff Waller Comber.

According to testimony given during the hearing Floyd Daniels was shot in the left side with a 12 guage shotgun. He was taken to Dr. Clyde O'Brien's office treated there, and then sent to a Lynchburg hospital. His brother, Lawrence Daniels, was shot Friday night also. The shot allegedly struck Floyd Daniels below the right eye.

The shooting took place Friday night, about eight miles south of Appomattox on Route 727, according to Conner's testimony. Randolph, who was not represented by counsel at the hearing is being held in the county jail. Bond has been set at $1,000.

Court Dismisses Case Against Richmond Teacher

Charges of manslaughter placed against a Richmond school teacher were dismissed by County Judge Charles Crawley in a preliminary hearing held Wed. Jan. 16 in Appomattox.

Miss Barton was charged on Dec. 21 in the death of Jack B. Mann, Spring.

According to testimony given by State Police investigating officer J. A. Crawford, Miss Barton's automobile going west on Route 460 struck Mann as he was walking east toward Appomattox about 7:45 p.m. on the night of Dec. 21.

Judge Crawley said that he found no evidence of "gross negligence" in the death and dismissed the case.
